

ABSTRACT

A method for iterating through elements of a collection. An embodiment of a method includes receiving a call to iterate through a collection that includes uninstantiated elements, instantiating, after receiving the call, the uninstantiated elements to provide instantiated elements, and iterating through the instantiated elements. An exemplary implementation includes iterating through messages in a file.